Tom Corbett
Attorney General

Dear Pennsylvanian:

As Attorney General, I have made halting the rising tide of drug use my top priority. That usually means busting dealers, both street pushers and drug kingpins. However, ridding our Commonwealth from illegal substances just begins there.

To truly put an end to the drug epidemic, we must constantly attack the problem from both the supply and demand side. The agents from my Office persistently work to bust drug manufacturers, traffickers and dealers. But we will never stop drugs from coming into Pennsylvania if we don't attack the demand for drugs as well.

That's why I created my Drug Demand Reduction Unit (DDRU). This group of outstanding personnel reaches thousands of people across the Commonwealth each year providing drug awareness, identification and educational presentations to school students, teachers, parents, community groups and business professionals.

This brochure explains what these agents do and explains how you can contact them to assist your community in its battle against illegal drug use. Please feel free to call the DDRU agent nearest your area for more information.

Thank you for teaming up with my Office to fight illegal drugs in Pennsylvania!

Drug Demand Reduction Unit

The Attorney General's Drug Demand Reduction Unit is an aggressive leader in the intervention and prevention of illegal drug use and violence.

The Unit has established and currently maintains a strong, visible and active presence with community groups, school districts, business organizations, senior groups and law enforcement entities.

No matter how large or small your anti-drug event, or need, the Unit will support your effort by utilizing its own resources to fit your needs.

The Agents in the Drug Demand Reduction Unit are committed to their mission of reducing the demand for drugs in Pennsylvania through a coordinated effort of education and community involvement.
