Drug-Free Calendar

Message from Attorney General Josh Shapiro -

This year marks the 22nd year anniversary of the Office of Attorney General's Drug-Free Calendar Contest. During October, which is National Substance Abuse Prevention Month, fifth-grade students across the Commonwealth were invited to create an original work of art illustrating a drug-free message. 13 winners were chosen out of a competitive field of 912 entries. My sincere thanks to all of the teachers and students who participated, and congratulations to the winners!

The annual calendar contest is about more than just celebrating students' artwork. This campaign carries a very serious message about drug use prevention. Our Commonwealth is in the midst of a terrible heroin and opioid crisis. Addressing this epidemic is my number one priority as your Attorney General and requires a wide array of efforts, including preventative education. Children must learn about the dangers of substance abuse and how they can protect themselves from the dangers of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco.

The Office of Attorney General's Office of Public Engagement offers free educational programs to teach drug awareness, cyber safety, and cyber bullying, and many other topics, in schools. If you are interested in bringing one of our programs to your schools, please visit attorneygeneral.gov or call 1-800-525-7642.

Again, thanks to all of the educators that took time out of their curriculum to help to participate in this year's contest and to all of the student who participated. This year's calendar is truly a work of art, and I can't wait to see what next year's students will come up with.

The Office of Attorney General (OAG) offers a number of educational programs to help schools and parents empower children with knowledge to keep them safe. From internet safety to drug abuse prevention to bullying, these unique programs feature customized lesson plans, interactive learning activities, and powerful messages that speak directly to students. The programs are all free-of-charge and OAG specialists are available to visit schools upon request.

Truth & Choices

A drug program aimed at middle and high school students introduces students to Shane, who shares his true story of hard choices and near death experiences due to drugs and alcohol. It is a reality check for all students and will open a unique dialogue about the realities of substance abuse.

Prescription Drugs (Rx Consequences)

This program from the OAG focuses on the growing problem of prescription drug abuse among teenagers. The presentation features the story of a young man whose dependence on prescription drugs led him down an unexpected path of destruction.

Social Media 101 – What Parents Need to Know

This presentation gives parents a foundational education on understanding the social media sites their children use, and how to keep them safe while using them. Parents will learn how to navigate and how to enable the security features on “apps,” along with recognizing the importance of knowing their child’s passwords. Monitoring children’s behavior and interactions on the internet is very critical in today’s world especially because children are being targeted by online predators and cyber bullying at an alarming rate.

Operation Safe Surf

A program designed to help educate children, parents, and schools on the importance of being safe online. Children are being targeted by online predators at an alarming rate, so it is critical to help them learn how to protect themselves while still enjoying all of the benefits on the internet.

Sticks & Stones

A program that aims to change the way students think about bullying. No longer a push on the playground or a whisper in the hall, bullying has been transformed by the internet and now includes texting, social media, emails, and websites.

Digital Citizenship

Digital Citizenship is a program for grades 8-12 that explains what is expected of a teen while online, as well as the appropriate use of social media. We explore the consequences of improper use of the internet, dangers teens may experience online, cyberbullying, and understanding one’s “digital footprint.” We all need to be good digital citizens as part of our cyber community.
