MICHELLE A. HENRY, ATTORNEY GENERAL

DRUG-FREE CALENDAR

Attorney General Michelle A. Henry and the winners of the 2024 Office of Attorney General Drug-Free Calendar

This is the 28th anniversary of the Office of Attorney General's Drug-Free Calendar Contest! For the past 28 years, in October, students from all over our great Commonwealth have submitted calendar designs in recognition of National Substance Use Prevention Month. We select thirteen winners from a remarkable pool of entries from children all across the Commonwealth. My sincere thanks to all of the teachers and students in Pennsylvania schools who participated – this year and every year – and congratulations to the winners!

The annual calendar contest is about more than just celebrating students' artwork. This campaign carries a very serious message about drug use prevention. Our Commonwealth is in the midst of a terrible opioid crisis, one that was only exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Addressing this epidemic is one of my top priorities as your Attorney General and requires a wide array of efforts, including preventative education. Children must learn about the dangers of substance abuse and how they can protect themselves from the dangers of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco.

The Office of Attorney General's Office of Public Engagement offers free educational programs to teach drug awareness, cyber safety, cyberbullying, and many other topics. If you are interested in learning about these resources, please visit attorneygeneral.gov or call 833-OAG-4YOU.

Thank you all so much for this year's submissions. As I look back on 28 years of this great contest, I'm grateful that so many students have participated and, year in and year out, were able to help make this informational calendar an inspiring work of art.

The Office of Attorney General (OAG) offers a number of educational programs to help schools and parents empower children with knowledge to keep them safe. From internet safety to drug abuse prevention to bullying, these unique programs feature customized lesson plans, interactive learning activities, and powerful messages that speak directly to students. The programs are all free-of-charge and OAG specialists are available to visit schools upon request.

Truth & Choices

A drug program aimed at middle and high school students introduces students to Shane, who shares his true story of hard choices and near death experiences due to drugs and alcohol. It is a reality check for all students and will open a unique dialogue about the realities of substance abuse.

Prescription Drugs (Rx Consequences)

This program from the OAG focuses on the growing problem of prescription drug abuse among teenagers. The presentation features the story of a young man whose dependence on prescription drugs led him down an unexpected path of destruction.

Social Media 101 – What Parents Need to Know

This presentation gives parents a foundational education on understanding the social media sites their children use, and how to keep them safe while using them. Parents will learn how to navigate and how to enable the security features on “apps,” along with recognizing the importance of knowing their child’s passwords. Monitoring children’s behavior and interactions on the internet is very critical in today’s world especially because children are being targeted by online predators and cyber bullying at an alarming rate.

Operation Safe Surf

A program designed to help educate children, parents, and schools on the importance of being safe online. Children are being targeted by online predators at an alarming rate, so it is critical to help them learn how to protect themselves while still enjoying all of the benefits on the internet.

Sticks & Stones

A program that aims to change the way students think about bullying. No longer a push on the playground or a whisper in the hall, bullying has been transformed by the internet and now includes texting, social media, emails, and websites.

Digital Citizenship

Digital Citizenship is a program for grades 8-12 that explains what is expected of a teen while online, as well as the appropriate use of social media. We explore the consequences of improper use of the internet, dangers teens may experience online, cyberbullying, and understanding one’s “digital footprint.” We all need to be good digital citizens as part of our cyber community.
